

Indian Materialism – Introduction to Indian Thought Since Antiquity

By Shomit Sirohi

Introduction

Added to the following in a major note, one can just follow price-series in geometric senses to organize the process of forming a orientation in fact, which is phenomenology as Aim.

I. Labouring
Perception,
Buddhism and even Concrete Analysis

What is called the Pritvika system of labour, then is also a system of labouring perception, consciousness and materialism.

II. Hindi Language Philosophy

Now the practice of merging this labouring form with Hindi words and language is also a practice.

III. Modern Indian Education on Science, Statistics and even History and Sociology

All of this become merged with modern statistics or educational sciences including linguistics.
